Respect has been called "the single most powerful ingredients in nourishing relationships and creating a just society". Parents, educators, researchers, children and adults in many societies all note with alarm a growing problem of disrespect and a decline in respect for self and others. We believe that respectful children tend to become respectful adults. We assume that the origins of impoliteness, disrespect and other problems of adults are formed in childhood. Growing up with disrespect for older people, a young adult may be unable to keep a job in the work world that requires understanding the authority of others. It shows that respect is essential in a civil society and crucial to positive human relations.
