2	متن زیر را بخوانید و به سوالات زیر آن جواب دهید. How did humans come to speak a language? Indeed, the origin of language is one of the greatest mysteries in human science, if not the greatest. Scholars and scientists have been arguing for centuries about the origins of language and all the questions that are related to this. The Linguistic Society of Paris – an organization dedicated to the study of languages – actually prevented any argument on the issue in 1886 and did not retract it for several years. Perhaps it's because language is such a unique and complex skill. It is something that only humans are able to do. Over the years there have been numerous attempts to teach apes to speak, and in particular chimpanzees – which are human's closest living relative. However, no other animal has the vocal pathology necessary to speak the way we do. Even attempting to teach chimps sign language has proven fruitless, with no animal displaying skill above the level of a two-year-old human. It seems the three things a creature needs to speak like a human is a human's brain, a human's vocal cords (thin pieces of muscle in your throat) and a human's intelligence. 31. Some animals can learn some words like a two-year old baby. True False 32. Animals can easily acquire the sign language. True False 33. The issue of 'language origin' was the focus of attention before 1886. True False 34. Some animals may learn the human language better than chimpanzees. True False 35. Why isn't it easy to discover the 'language origin'? 36. Why do animals fail to speak like a human?	G
