John Lonnon was a famous songwriter and singer who was all the time thinking about having a perfect and better life and changing the world. He had become more and more interested in these ideas in the late 1960s. Unfortunately, nobody cared about them in his society in that time but he was so serious to achieve his goals .In 1968, he traveled to India with the other "Beatles " to study Meditation with the "Maharishi" and in the same year he returned his MBE, a special prize from the British queen, as a protest against Britain's part in the wars in Nigeria and Vietnam. In 1971 he wrote perhaps his most famous song, "Imagine", which expresses his idea of the perfect world.

"Beatles " (گروه موسیقی) protest (مخالفت)

24. Did anybody pay attention to Lonnon's ideas?

25. Why did he return his prize to the British queen? Because

- a) he was thinking of a perfect world b) It was a special prize only for the queen
c) he wasn't happy with Britain's part in the wars d) Meditation had helped him to do so.

26. What was John Lonnon?
