Family has always been of great importance to me and something that I value very strongly. I grew up in a family with my loving mother, dedicated father and kind brother. We have been trained (taught) in an environment that appreciating each other has made the family foundation strong.

4 Respectful relations between my parents taught my brother and me to behave others kindly, friendly and respectably. My parents always call each other with “my dear”, “my darling”, but the magical expressions to achieve it is “I love you.” They have made an effort to keep our family very close and connected as a unit.

Although my hardworking father leaves home early in the morning and comes back home late, I still feel so close to him that I can go to him with anything. Moreover we have very friendly relationship with not only our entire family both from our mother and our father side, but also our close friends.

14. where can we learn the first steps of appreciation ?

15. what are the words and expressions that bring lovely relationships ?

16. Is it enough to have only close relationships with our parents ?

17. What does pronoun “it” in the second paragraph refer to ?

* Good Luck ****
