Pottery is one of the most ancient industries in our planet with a long history specially in Asia. This art is an old one in Iran. Iranian or Persian pottery refers to the pottery works made by an eastern style in Iran. Through centuries, Persian pottery has been influenced by many factors including religion and economy for example Islamic pottery with Islamic patterns like Kufi. Unimaginably, a large collection of Persian pottery is outside Iran at famous museums such as British museums. Today, this art is still alive with both modern and traditional styles. Modern artists have succeeded to attract more customers who use their works as decorative items.
