Charles Dickens is one of the greatest writers in the English Language. His father had a good job in an office in London, but he always spent more money than he got. There were eight children in the family, so it was a hard life. Charles went to school and he was a clever student. Suddenly when he was eleven his father went to prison and life became more difficult for the family, but Charles went to work in a factory where he washed bottles. He worked ten hours a day and earned six pounds a week every night after work; he had to walk ten miles back to the room where he lived. He had little food to eat. Charles hated those days and never forgot them.

- Where did Charles's father work?
- How old was Charles when he started working in a factory? a. True b. False
- Charles's father earned more money than he spent. a. True b. False
- The distance between Charles's room and his work was ten miles. a. True b. False
